NEW SIX-YEAR PUBLIC WORKS PLANS FRAMED

Long Range Program Involving $5,011,000,000 Sent to Congress by Roosevelt.

WORK OF RESOURCE BOARD

President Contrasts Proposal With Hurriedly Enacted PWA During Emergency.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—President Roosevelt sent congress today a $5,011,000,000 six-year program of public works as the basis for consideration of a "long-range plan and method of construction" in planning against future depressions.

The broad program was prepared by the national resources committee.

It recommended public works on a grand scale, including "hundreds of specific projects in drainage areas covering the whole country and embracing an $800,000,000 control program in the flooded Ohio river basin.

The President, in a message transmitting the report, said public works had been undertaken "somewhat hurriedly" during the emergency.

Wants Long Range Plan

"Now," he said, "it is time to develop a long range plan and policy of construction—to provide the best use of our resources and to prepare in advance against any other emergency."

Mr. Roosevelt continued:

"Through the formulation and annual revision of a program of all types of construction revision and adoption of the program by congress and appropriation under regular budgetary procedure, timed in part in relation to economic needs, we can provide for the orderly development of our resources and the provision of needed facilities for our people."

The President asked congress to consider the report in conjunction with recommendations for highways, bridges, dams and flood control already under construction and planned for in the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Some To Start Now

The resources committee report said have come of the many projects undertaken at once while others would be held as a reservoir which can be utilized in periods of economic depression" for public spending to increase employment.

The six year program would be kept constant on that basis, being revised annually as studies warranted.

In line with the report of the president's committee on government reorganization, this group headed by Secretary Ickes favored a permanent public works organization and an advisory resources board in the government.

Besides Ickes, the committee includes Secretaries Wallace, Roper, Perkins and Woodring, Frederic A. Delano, Harry L. Hopkins and Charles E. Merriam. The executive officer is Charles W. Eliot II.

DAVEY'S RELIEF BILL ATTACKED

Clause Requiring Counties To Match State Funds Rejected by Committee.

PARTISAN BOARD OPPOSED

Amendment Offered To Boost Appropriation from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3—Tearing into a proposed stop-gap relief bill, the house finance committee rejected today provisions requiring counties to match state funds and to set up a partisan relief commission. It received an amendment to increase from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000 an appropriation for relief from Jan. 1 to April 15.

The matching proposal and the clause to reduce from four to three the membership of the relief commission was backed by the state administration.

No Vote Taken

After debating the bill throughout the morning, the committee recessed at noon without taking a vote.

Rep. John DeRighter, Democrat of Cuyahoga, submitted the amendment to increase the appropriation. As proposed originally, the bill would allocate $2,000,000 to counties for direct relief on the basis of need providing the counties matched their grants.

Amended, the bill would appropriate $4,000,000 for direct relief and $1,000,000 for flood relief, and give the relief commission $1,000,000 to be used as an emergency "cushion" fund.

The administration, frustrated in its efforts to compel local governments to bear half the cost of caring for the indigent, hastily drafted legislation designed to help counties in financial straits.

The governor, it was reliably reported, would suggest that the legislature empower the counties to levy taxes on automobiles and mortgage transactions.

Wants Funds Matched

He informed members of the house finance committee he would insist that the counties match, dollar for dollar, at least half of the state grants for poor relief.

Under pressure from scores of county and city officials, who contended they had no money to match grants, the committee practically discarded the administration's original relief bill. The measure

KIDNAPED MAN FOUND DEAD IN OZARK THICKET

U. S. Agent Says Missouri Youth Admits Slaying and Leads Officers to Scene.

VICTIM BULLET PIERCED

$5,000 Ransom Asked in Note Written by Physician Lured Out on Fake Call.

By The Associated Press

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 3—The bullet-pierced body of Dr J. C. B. Davis, 65, country doctor kidnaped a week ago, was found in an Ozark thicket by officials early today and a department of justice agent said a 20-year-old youth had confessed the slaying.

Earl J. Connelly of the federal bureau of investigation said the youth identified as Robert Kenyon of Grimmett, Mo., grilled since yesterday in the $5,000 ransom abduction, led officers to the body near a roadside 14 miles southeast of here.

Dr. Davis disappeared from his office a week ago after being summoned, his secretary said, on a medical call by a "Mr. James."

"The man responsible for the crime led us to the spot," Connelly announced to reporters shortly before daylight.

"The man gave us sufficient information that we knew he was the kidnaper and then he took us to the body."

Connelly said Kenyon was taken to "another prison" to avoid possible mob violence.

Connelly said the doctor's body had been left where it was found and would not be moved immediately.

He would not disclose the nature or number of bullet wounds in the body nor its condition.

Killed After Writing Note

However, he said the doctor apparently had been killed only a short while after he wrote a ransom note demanding $5,000, received by relatives last Thursday. That note was in the doctor's handwriting.

The federal officers refused to disclose details of the young farmer's statement.

Kenyon was arrested Tuesday morning, Connelly said, on a farm near Grimmett, by state troopers acting on a "tip" from a source held secret.

Connelly also revealed a second ransom note had been received yesterday after Kenyon was in custody. Connelly said it could have been mailed by Kenyon before his arrest.

The federal agent said a futile attempt had been made Friday to contact the kidnaper. Connelly said an unnamed contact-man had driven down state highway 14 southeast of Willow Springs, looking for a white flag which the ransom note said would be stuck in the roadside. The would-be negotiator failed to find the flag, giving rise to the first grave fears for Dr. Davis' life.

Dr. Davis disappeared from his office here Jan. 26, after telling his secretary he was going to attend an emergency case at the farm of a "Mr. James."

At least four persons said they saw the doctor leave his office with a stranger about 25 years old.

His family was not alarmed when he failed to return at night fall for frequently he attended patients throughout the night.

Next day, however, the physician's family learned there was no such person as the "Mr. James," who was reported to have summoned him.

Last Friday fears for the doctor's life were given sudden impetus by the discovery of his medicine case in the North Fork river, 15 miles from here. A farmer who found the bag carefully washed it, innocently destroying any fingerprints before turning it over to officers.

Though not wealthy, Dr. Davis was reputed to be one of the more prosperous residents of this community of 1,500 persons.

Judge Will Hear Flood Control Suit Next Week

Common Pleas Judge Robert C. Duncan of Franklin county announced in Columbus today a date will be fixed next week for hearing of ouster charges brought against the three directors of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy association, The Associated Press reported.

Marion is one of 17 counties making up the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district. If the district's huge water conservation and flood control program is adopted by the federal government, two of a group of reservoirs would be located in counties near Marion, and a canal would be cut through a section of this county to link headwaters of the Scioto and Sandusky rivers.

Judge Duncan is presiding jurist of the 17-judge conservancy district court. The court will hear the charges.

The removal of Directors William E. Martin of Upper Sandusky, Joseph Van Meter of Waverly and B. B. Smith of Fremont is sought.

"Bunk," Says Davey

AS CITY ANSWERS FLOOD RELIEF CALL

THE photograph above shows one of the Marion groups that came to the aid of flood sufferers by collecting and shipping clothing and food supplies. Legion members and other volunteers are shown in the photograph at the Legion Dugout, one of the central points for the collection, sorting, crating and shipment of supplies. The table loaded with unsorted clothing and the boxes represent only a fraction of the tons of supplies Marion residents gave. Legion officials estimated at the Dugout alone 10 tons of clothing and 32 tons of food were sorted and sent to flood sufferers. The five women standing at the table, left to right, are Mrs. Paul Reynolds, Mrs. Paul Leser, Mrs. Florence Herrigel, Mrs. Laura Straw and Mrs. L. M. Eikenbary. At their right in front is Walter Belmer, commander of the Legion post. Included among the men in the rear row, left to right, are L. H. Larsen, Deputy Sheriff W. H. Willis, Sheriff Fred F. Miller, Thomas Hurley, Edwin Hatfield, Victor Wood, commander of Marion camp of United Spanish War Veterans, Paul Leser, Carl Zink, Louis L. Kull. Others in the group include Wes Schwaderer, Herbert Haubert, Frank Prater and Thomas Glaze.

POWELL GIVEN $555 IN SUIT

Judge Young Awards Former Court Clerk Judgment For Back Pay.

ACTION AGAINST CITY

Court Acts When Defense Is Unable To Produce Salary Waivers.

Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young yesterday awarded John H. Powell of 701 Herman street, former clerk of municipal court, judgment of $555 in his suit against the city of Marion for $824.35 in wage cuts. The trial of the suit opened yesterday morning and moved to a swift conclusion, Judge Young giving his decision immediately after the close of testimony at 3:30 p. m.

Ralph E. Carhart, city solicitor, said he will probably ask for a new trial and will present the matter to city council Monday night for its consideration. Judge Young's decision refused Powell any payment for wage cuts in the first half of 1934, since evidence showed he had signed a salary waiver to the city. The decision also refused him $111.15 in interest, but awarded interest from June 1, 1936, the date Powell's petition was filed, to the date the judgment is paid by the city.

The $555 judgment represents the entire salary lost by Powell in 1933 and in the last half of 1934, for which periods the city failed to produce any waivers signed by Powell.

Judge Makes Statement

In explaining his decision Judge Young declared it is his understanding that a public official can waive his salary or part of it if he so desires, either by written waiver or by acquiescence to a reduction. In regard to the reductions in 1933, the vouchers which Powell submitted to the city auditor for partial payment of salary all bore notations that the vouchers were only for part pay, Judge Young said. This notation indicated a continued protest against the reduction, the court declared.

Judge Young recognized the waiver signed by Powell for the first half of 1934, but said the city had failed to produce a waiver for the last half of 1934.

Mr. Carhart said after the trial that he believed the missing wai-

CALF DOES ITS BIT FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

Veal Up for Sale 21 Times Brings $75.75.

Unique in contributions to the Marion County Red Cross flood relief fund was $75.75 presented yesterday from the sale of a calf.

W. W. Fink of near Upper Sandusky announced at the weekly Marion Livestock Sales Co. auction Monday that he was donating a calf to be sold for the benefit of flood sufferers.

Twenty-one times the calf went under the auctioneer's hammer, and the twenty-first time was declared sold to an Erie, Pa., butcher who attends the sales from time to time.

Each time the calf was sold the buyer put it up for sale again, until bids became too low to continue and the final sale was declared. Paul Prettyman, bookkeeper for the company, yesterday presented the money to Miss Lillian Finck, executive secretary of the Marion County Red Cross chapter.

Dixie Hails Good News That Flood is Conquered

Engineers Confident Mississippi Levees Will Hold as River Continues To Climb at Cairo.

By The Associated Press

Like a rainbow in the sky, confident predictions that the dramatic battle to tame the floods virtually was won cheered the southland today as the crest surged out of the desolated Ohio valley into the Mississippi.

After a week of suspense and fear that a "super-flood" dwarfing the 1927 disaster in the Mississippi valley was inevitable, hopes of the vast army of flood fighters along a thousand miles of waterfront were raised by confident assertions of engineers that victory was in sight.

High Winds Subside

High winds which had driven choppy waves against the valley's defenses from Cairo to the Gulf of Mexico had subsided and engineers said, barring additional rains, the flood waters should roll down the valley without the collapse of a single barricade.

The muddy Ohio was rising again at Cairo.

After a 15-hour standstill, as if gathering strength for the final assault before spilling its crest into the Mississippi, the big stream brimmed to a new record-breaking height against Cairo's 60-foot wall.

The gauge showed 59.6 feet—less than six inches from the top of the huge concrete barrier. The big test, army engineers said, will come when the waters begin pounding against the 3-foot emergency bulwark of earth and wood.

Forty-one railroad flatcars, loaded with dirt-filled sacks, were stationed at strategic points around the inside of the seven-mile levee system that borders the city—ready to plug breaks in the dike.

Some thought the crest had passed last night after the river had remained stationary for 15 hours but, when it again began to creep higher, the coast guard ordered its first all night patrol along the levee front.

15 Bodies Recovered

New Madrid, Mo., below Cairo, was saddened by word that the bodies of 15 victims of Saturday night's barge sinking had been recovered and 14 still were missing. *Army engineers said dredging op*erations in the spillway where the barge sank would continue until all bodies had been recovered.

Fair weather encouraged a crew of men who labored to hold the Hickman, Ky., wall. Tiptonville, Tenn., was nearly surrounded by water but the situation had brightened considerably since flood waters broke through two sections of the slough landing neck near Reesie, Tenn. Dikes at Mellwood and Ferguson, Ark., were watched closely for signs of weakness.

Cold added to the hardship of thousands of refugees in Arkansas and they huddled around stoves in hilltop camps. The Red Cross said 200,000 lowlanders in the Mississippi valley had been driven from their homes.

Red Cross in Charge

Arkansas' governor, Carl E. Bailey, gave the Red Cross complete charge of relief activities in the state where he said it would be necessary, for a time, to feed, clothe and shelter 50,000 citizens.

The Red Cross relief fund neared the $11,500,000 mark and the senate pushed plans to send the $790,000,000 relief appropriation bill to President Roosevelt before WPA funds are exhausted. Sen. Robinson, the Democratic leader, indicated the government would attempt again to bobble rebellious rivers through a national control system constructed over a span of years.

Ohio Reservoirs Suggested For Flood Control

Continued Survey Suggested for 14 Basins Costing $85,000,00 Okayed by Congress.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—The national resources water committee recommended today a program of *reservoir construction on tribu*taries of the Ohio river as "the most practical means of controlling the floods of the Ohio and its larger branches."

A report of the committee submitted to congress by President Roosevelt recommended expenditure of $500,000 by the army engineers to continue and expand their surveys in the Ohio basin, to be followed by construction over a period of years of 14 reservoirs already authorized by congress at a cost of $85,000,000.

The reservoirs were included in a group of projects recommended for "deferred construction", because they "involve unsolved questions of public policy" or are obstructed by other difficulties.

Pollution of the Ohio river also was treated by the report as a matter requiring immediate attention.

"Pollution of the main river and some of its tributaries by untreated domestic sewage and industrial wastes is a constant and serious threat to public health," the committee reported.

"Acid drainage from mines com-

Kenton Project in Recommended List

Included among several pollution control projects in Ohio and Pennsylvania recommended to the government for construction is one for improvement of the sewage treatment plant at Kenton at a cost of $40,000. The improvement would aid in clearing the Scioto river.

Others listed include construction of a new sewage treatment plant at Lancaster, O., $600,000; intercepting sewers and treatment plant, Hamilton, $1,900,000; incinerator, water supply project at Rockport, $200,000; sewer systems and treatment plants at Athens, [illegible] Bucyrus Lodi and [illegible] $250,000.

SHORT CONFERENCE TO BE FOLLOWED BY ANOTHER LATER ON

General Motors Executive Cites Roosevelt Wishes in Agreeing To Confer With C. I. O. Leader.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Feb. 3 — High officials of General Motors and the Committee for Industrial Organization met with Gov. Frank Murphy behind the barred doors of a court room here today in a new effort to terminate the General Motors automotive strike.

Conferring with the governor were William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president of General Motors, and John L. Lewis, militant chieftain of the C. I. O.

The letter by which Knudsen accepted the governor's invitation disclosed that Murphy telephoned him last night urging him to meet with Lewis "in accordance with the wish of the President of the United States." The General Motors official wrote that this "leaves no alternative except compliance," and said he would confer "with a view to formulating a basis for negotiations."

The conference began shortly before 10 o'clock, little more than *five hours in advance of the dead*line set in a stringent court injunction for evacuation by strikers of two General Motors plants in Flint, Mich., that they have held since Dec. 30.

That injunction was signed yesterday afternoon in Flint by Circuit Judge Paul V. Gadola.

Today's conference was in the Detroit court room of Recorder's Judge George Murphy, brother of the governor.

Parley Halts at 11:30

It broke up shortly before 11:30 a. m. and Gov. Murphy announced there would be another later in the day.

Murphy told newsmen:

"There has been a very interesting conference and another will be held here late today. There is no further comment."

Judge Murphy escorted Lewis to the court room little more than an hour after the labor leader arrived from Washington. Knudsen and the governor were in the room when Lewis arrived. Also present were Assistant Attorney General Edward G. Kemp, the governor's legal advisor, and the governor's personal secretary.

Lewis Makes No Comment

Lewis made no comment upon his arrival. En route from Washington last night, however, he declared that "every moral and legal consideration indicates a conference."

In Flint, where a six-block area including the Chevrolet Motor company's vast factory and Fisher Body plant No. 2 bristled with bayonets and machine guns, strikers declared that they would disregard Judge Gadola's order that they leave the two Fisher Body plants by 3 p. m. today.

There was no indication that the 3,500 national guard troops in Flint would be used to drive the men from the plants should their defiance persist past the deadline. No troops were stationed at Fisher plant No. 1 and the troops in the vicinity of Fisher plant No. 2 apparently were there only to prevent a repetition of violence that broke out in the Chevrolet plant Monday.

Letter Made Public

Coincident with start of the conference, General Motors made public the letter by which Knudsen accepted the governor's invitation. It said:

"The request you now make for a conference is stated to be in accordance with the wish of the President of the United States. The wish of the President of the United States leaves no alternative except compliance, and therefore we accede to your request."

In announcing the conference, Gov. Murphy said: "I think the way to work this thing out is peacefully and justly. I shall so insist."

*The governor reiterated that "no*pardons of anything or anybody" there would be no bloodshed in

STRIKE OUSTER ORDERS EASED

Delay in Evacuation Likely After Judge Says Prompt Enforcement Unnecessary.

COMPANY ACTION REQUIRED

"Sitdowners" Show No Sign of Leaving Building as Court's Deadline Nears.

By The Associated Press

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 3—Delay in voluntary or forcible evacuation of two strike-held General Motors body plants here beyond the deadline set by a court injunction appeared assured today following a statement by Circuit Judge Paul V. Gadola that the order need not be enforced promptly at 3 p. m.

At expiration of the 24-hour period given for the strikers to leave, Judge Gadola said, representatives of the big automobile concern must present evidence that the strikers have failed to comply with the order, before a contempt citation is issued.

Show No Signs of Leaving

Less than three hours before the deadline set by the injunction, several hundred "stay-in" strikers who have held two Fisher Body Co. plants since Dec. 30 showed no indication of retreating from their announced intention to resist ejection.

Judge Gadola's statement came shortly after a conference in Detroit participated in by Gov. Frank Murphy, John L. Lewis, director-general of the strikes, and William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors.

Sheriff Thomas W. Wolcott visited the Fisher Body plants No. 1 and 2 last night and read to the strikers Judge Gadola's order that they cease occupying the buildings, vacate them by 3 p. m. today and *refrain from picketing the fac*tories.

To Disregard Order

After hearing the order each group telegraphed Gov. Frank Murphy their declarations of intention to disregard it.

Gov. Murphy, busy in conferences seeking a formula for settling the strike, declined to comment upon the communications, which he said he had not received.

AKRON TIRE PLANT CLOSED IN DISPUTE

Workers Reported To Have Forcibly Ejected Vice President from Building.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Feb. 3—The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s plant No. 2, employing 2,500 persons, was closed today after a dispute in which workers were reported to have forcibly ejected Vice President C. C. Slusser from the tire building department.

Public Relations Counsel A. B. Judd said Slusser, another company representative and 40 foremen were "starved" out when they left the tire building that they could work without eating, his duty to the United Rubber Workers union.

The union official could be reached immediately for comment. About 400 of 800 men in the department refused to vacate and remained in the factory.

When the midnight shift reported it was informed that operations had been completely suspended. Judd said production would not be resumed until the dispute is settled.

Union members precipitated the trouble, Judd declared, when they *fired a fellow worker who apparent*ly had failed to pay his union dues to get back

Sharing Rooms

I AM LIVE numerous letters requesting information as to the wisdom of the grandparent sleeping in the same room with an infant or young child I dread to hurt the feelings of any fond grandparent so it is not easy to advise in such a case

It must be said however there are dangers in this practice Let me explain

Many of the diseases that afflict mankind are no longer a source of danger to an individual after he reaches the age of 10 The common diseases of childhood and early adult life are rarely seen in later life But some disorders such as high blood pressure and other disturbances due to weakening of the human mechanism become more prevalent

But the danger is not in those diseases but in certain communicable diseases I refer particularly to tuberculosis This infection may exist in a human body for many years without the victim being aware of it As the individual grows older and perhaps suffers from lowered resistance the tuberculosis may be stirred into activity

It will be seen that older persons should not be permitted to sleep in the same bed with young children They should not fondle or kiss the youngsters unless it is definitely known that the older ones are in good health free of cough and without symptoms of tuberculosis

Unfortunately as I have intimated the tuberculosis may be so mild that it is unsuspected Occasionally the adult may complain of certain disorders which are thought to be bronchitis or asthma when really the trouble is a form of tuberculosis The danger is that such grandparents may live in too close contact with their grandchildren little realizing the menace involved

Of course I do not mean to criticise the many who are fond of their grandchildren but I do wish to point out that the danger I mention is one that should not be overlooked The grandparents will be glad to take precautions when once they realize the danger of exposing a beloved infant or young child to harmful germs would have appropriated $5 000 000 for the first six months of this year to be distributed on a basis of need with a matching requirement.

Some committee members said the governor would propose in a new bill that $4 000 000 be appropriated for the first three months Of this they said $2 000 000 would have to be matched by the counties $1 000 000 would be granted outright on a basis of need and $1 000 000 would be distributed for flood relief

Relief Funds Exhausted

Mayors Harold H Burton of Cleveland and L D Schroy of Akron told the committee their county relief funds were exhausted and that they could not match grants I D Williams finance director of Portsmouth declared that his city and other communities in the flood area would need state grants for rehabilitation

John Q Carey vice mayor of Toledo asserted the governor is attempting to save his face on the no new taxes program His plan still does not relieve him of the responsibility of relief to the people of Ohio

Meanwhile the governor signed into law three bills for the aid of the poor and the flood sufferers They would extend for one year the period in which Carey poor relief bonds may be issued authorize the state aid for aged administrator to renew within 120 days the pensions of flood sufferers at his discretion and permit counties to expend un encumbered balances for flood relief and rehabilitation

The house passed and sent to the governor a bill which would establish an Ohio commission on interstate cooperation The committee would work with committees of other states on the problem of flood control

Another bill passed by the house and sent to the senate would provide that members of county boards of education be paid $3 and travel expenses for each board meeting attended Members of rural and village boards would be paid $2 a meeting but not more than $20 a year

Through her attorney Eugene H Marcus the comely ex actress declared

Shadows have been cast upon my reputation in reports of reopening of the case Now I demand that I either be prosecuted or exonerated If the district attorney has any evidence he should prosecute If not then I should be exonerated

SENATE ARGUES OVER FLOOD RELIEF BILL

Certificate of Necessity Clause Proposed as Part of $900 000 000 Measure

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Feb 3 One line dispute remained today before the senate could vote on the bill carrying funds for flood relief

Ben Bailey Democrat of North Carolina objected at the $900 000 000 re-distribution to require a new first report from states on their asking for aid to their detriment

Ben Robinson Democrat of Arkansas the majority leader sought quick approval of the relief fund to replenish Army engineer administration resources which were being drained by flood demands

Senate leaders looked forward too to tackling the large problem of a national flood control program—called by Robinson the most gigantic task ever undertaken in the United States

Pressing toward its vote on the relief appropriation the senate yesterday rejected the demand of Hugh Democrat of Washington that funds for the unemployed be increased by more than $400 000 000

The senate gave its investigation committees power to raise the salaries of their investigators beyond the long-standing $3 000 yearly limit.

It also cut out a house provision barring the use of relief funds for investigations preferring to leave committees free to borrow men from WPA and the regular departments

TO HEAR FLOOD SUIT IN COURT NEXT WEEK

dusky project it is obviously the work and purpose of the petitioners in the case Davey said

The governor's statement follows

Of all the bunk that has been printed about this administration just about the rankest is contained in the quoted petition of the attorneys for the so-called Scioto Sandusky Conservancy association of whom I never heard before

The state government has nothing to do with this or any other similar conservancy project except the possibility of furnishing part of the money under the law All the authority is vested in the common pleas judges of the district We have too much work already in handling the innumerable and never ending problems of the huge state government We certainly are not seeking any additional burdens However we do have a sympathetic attitude toward such important public works the necessity for which has been tragically shown by the recent flood

If any politics is being played in connection with the Scioto-Sandusky project it is obviously the work and purpose of the petitioners in this case They remind one of the thief who cries thief thief in order to divert attention from his own guilt Their reckless manner in quoting me is callous in the extreme Those quotations are deliberate and unqualified falsehoods

Allegations in Petition

The charges signed by H Albert Smith president of the Smith Agricultural Chemical Co and president of the conservancy association charged misfeasance malfeasance non feasance and breach of duty and trust and that the original purpose of the conservancy association have been subordinated to the political desires and ambitions of the board of directors

Removal of Directors William F Martin of Upper Sandusky Joseph Van Meter of Waverly and E B Smith of Fremont was asked in the suit but allegations were directed only at Martin and Van Meter

Martin has flatly denied the allegations and Van Meter said he disagrees with the charges adding they seem to charge us with everything except the Spanish war However Director Smith said In general charges made in the petition are true The board held up progress on the project because the army engineers refused to let them handle the funds for the project I was not invited to all the meetings of the board and there were many things that went on without my knowledge

The ouster suit came in the midst of revived interest in the conservancy project which had been given new hope of approval by the federal government by its mention in connection with a huge river control program being considered to prevent recurrence of this winter's disastrous floods

plicities the problem It is estimated that the sewage produced by 6 000 000 people drains to the Ohio river directly or through tributaries Less than 30 per cent of the sewage receives any treatment

Projects to cost more than $100 000 000 were recommended for immediate construction to check pollution of the Ohio and its tributaries and additional projects were recommended for investigation or detailed study

In its study of floods in the basin the committee found the Ohio has contributed more than any other stream to the devastating floodwaters of the lower Mississippi

A comprehensive plan developed by the corps of (army) engineers the committee said includes some 83 reservoirs for flood control and power production

Many of the possible benefits in flood control could be obtained by building 32 of the reservoirs about half of which are judged to be economically justified at this time

The 14 reservoirs recommended for immediate construction were Alleghen[illegible] Creek French creek Conemaugh river Loyalhanna Mahoning creek Red Bank creek West Fork river Tygart's Berd Bumpers Falls Monongahela and Cheat

The army engineers recommendations for immediate construction included

Dredging Ohio river to provide a 9 foot wide channel $2 000 000 (under construction)

Expenditure of approximately $75 000 000 for sewage treatment plants at various points to clean up the Ohio river safeguard water supplies and provide water recreation

NEW PLAN TO END STRIKE SUGGESTED

Includes Pledge To Keep Plants Closed, Contract To Set Hours Wages

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Feb 3—A new plan to end the General Motors strike emerged today in the consideration of those seeking to bring agreement for the manufacturers and the United Automobile Workers together

Authoritative sources said it called for

(1) Gov Frank Murphy of Michigan to obtain and guarantee a pledge by General Motors to keep former body plants at Flint Michigan closed while representatives of General Motors and the strikers negotiated a wage and hour contract

(2) The contract to set the wages and hours for all General Motors employes with General Motors left free to deal with groups outside the union on other matters

(3) General Motors to agree to negotiate again with the union when the contract expired

This plan it was said has been discussed by Secretary Perkins Edward F McGrady assistant secretary and Gov Murphy McGrady talked to John L Lewis about the plan just before Lewis left yesterday for Detroit

Lewis immediate reaction was reported not favorable but he did not finally reject it

Whether General Motors thought well of the plan was not disclosed

Lewis said last night there were only two ways to end the strike—a conference with no conditions or stipulations or a long drawn dispute

BOTH SIDES MEET WITH GOV. MURPHY

connection with the strike settlement or the evacuation of General Motors plants

I sent troops into the strike zone at Flint the governor said to preserve law and order and not cause bloodshed and if I can prevent it there will be none

The governor declined to discuss a three point plan reported in Washington to be under consideration by the department of labor for settling the dispute

Decide to Stay In

We have decided to stay in the plant U A W A headquarters here said the strikers in the Fisher No 2 plant informed Gov Murphy

We have no delusions about the sacrifices this decision will entail We fully expect that if a violent effort is made to oust us many of us will be killed

We are advised that it is intended to have us ejected by the use of force said the message to Murphy from the men in the No 1 plant Is General Motors Corp going to be permitted to force the workmen out of this plant through the use of violent force"

John Brophy C I O director said he had been assured by the governor that under no circumstances will the military be used to eject or assist in the ejection of sit in employes of General Motors at Flint by force or violence

Brophy said he would join Lewis and Martin in their conference at Detroit

Twelve hundred Michigan national guardsmen armed with rifles and machine guns patrolled an 80-acre plot occupied by the Fisher plant No 2 where 27 persons were injured in a riot Jan 11 and a dozen buildings housing units of the Chevrolet Motor Co The No 1 Fisher plant is not in this area

The Fisher sit downers were spending their 36th day in the plants as the zero hour for their evacuation approached

After Judge Gadola announced his decision on General Motors petition for the injunction the union president's only comment was

We will not fight the government

Martin declined to comment upon a statement by Knudsen that as soon as the plants have been restored to our possession General Motors will negotiate with the union on its eight demands

We will do all that lies in our power to make a prompt and honorable settlement the corporation official said

A union sound car seized by guardsmen yesterday because the speakers were talking too much was released a few hours later but six men detained at the same time were turned over to civil authorities and held in jail on charges of inciting to riot.

MAPLE SYRUP CAMPS WILL OPEN SHORTLY

Mild Winter Starts Early Run of Sap in Morrow County Trees

Special to The Star

MT GILEAD Feb 2 — Tests made this week by Morrow county maple syrup producers indicate that early opening of a number of camps may be expected

To date none have been opened but several producers said this week that they could have made syrup as the sap is running much earlier than is customary

The open winter with the extremely warm weather which prevailed in the last few weeks was responsible for the early run it was said The collar weather experienced in the last two days is ideal for opening camps and some will probably be opened here before the end of the week

SHAKESPEARE LOVE TALE THRILLS LOCAL AUDIENCE AT PALACE

O Romeo Romeo wherefore art thou Romeo?

Deny thy father and refuse thy name

Or if thou will not be but sworn my love

And I no longer be a Capulet

Three hundred and thirty years ago the Bard of Avon penned the undying love of Juliet Capulet for Romeo Montague yesterday in the Palace screen Norma Shearer spoke the tender words to Leslie Howard in what has been accepted as the most magnificent shakespearean production on stage or screen Superlatives have been lavished by the press of the world on the late Irving Thalberg s production of Romeo and Juliet and rightfully so motion picture audiences have seen a stage audience has ever seen as complete as beautiful as authentically detailed presentation of the world s love story

The supporting cast John Barrymore as the swashbuckling Mercutio Edna Mae Oliver in the role of Juliet s nurse Basil Rathbone as the fiery Tybalt Reginald Denny as Benvolio cousin of Romeo who invites him to attend the party at which he meets Juliet C Aubrey Smith and Violet Kemble Cooper as Lord and Lady Capulet parents of Juliet Ralph Forbes as Paris rejected lover of Juliet Henry Walker as the kind hearted friar Laurence who marries the lovers And, Dorothy Jordaine in the comedy role of Peter servant to Miss Oliver Conway Tearle as The Prince of Verona Someone who stars the late Thalberg more likely the director George Cukor who made David Copperfield Little Women and other of the stellar pictures from Hollywood s output inspired the entire cast to portrayals of unusual eloquence and fluency

Before backgrounds of beauty unsurpassed in any production Romeo and Juliet played out their ageless story of the love between the son and daughter of feuding families

Months went into research money was spent without stint players of even smallest roles were cast for their ability authorities on Shakespeare and the Fifteenth Century were employed and the result has been as perfect a presentation of Shakespearean drama as human ingenuity could bring forth

Last night s audience was hushed by the lyric beauty of the romance and swept away with the sheer beauty of the production as a whole

More than 1 000 residents of Marion and vicinity saw the picture The matinee audience included a large group of school children who were excused from classes to attend

It was a presentation worthy of the future It was created in every city where it has been given and show screenings and one which audiences will not forget H H

Oh To Be President

The country's respect for the office and the talking for the man who holds it reached a crescendo Saturday night thousands of birthday balls honored Mr Roosevelt

But after each Saturday night comes a Monday morning On Monday morning of this week perhaps the most important policy making work since early in 1933 the President's desk contained these problems

Floods How much money should a sympathetic congress spend and how can the money be spent most effectively

Strikes What should the administration's attitude be particularly with regard to the sitdown method of conducting strikes

Electric power How should the issue between contesting factions in TVA be resolved in order to safeguard national interests?

Regulation of wages and hours How can the objectives of the unmourned NRA be approached without stepping the second time into the trap wherein the blue eagle came to grief?

The supreme court How far should the blue trying to undermine the court's prestige be permitted to go under the guise of White House sanction?

In his spare time Mr Roosevelt can take up tax policy, reorganization of the executive branch neutrality legislation and fiscal policy

Oh to be President! Just for a day—a day would be enough

Also To Be Considered.

Nature's challenge to men in the river valleys is being answered confidently with grandiose plans of flood control The Ohio valley flood is stimulating the imagination of planners as never before

A geologist may not find it easy to agree with their visions He likely thinks of a greater plan which has carved out courses for rivers and furnished bottom lands to hold surplus water in the flood season

Nature as a geologist sees it is master and man is dependent He cannot interfere successfully Dr Charles P Berkey geology professor of Columbia university says for instance that instead of disputing the right or way of one of nature's giants perhaps it would show greater wisdom to accept the situation and turn such portions of the river bottom as it must occupy on occasion back to the river again

In other words man is a trespasser on land which belongs to the river He will be punished in flood season It might be wiser therefore to relocate population than to build dams which at best cannot guarantee perfect safety

Legislators preparing to consider new measures of flood control should consider this point of view They do not need to be fatalistic there are many measures of flood control which can be justified Nevertheless the idea has limitations

If the whole country is going to share responsibility for the situation in the river valleys it has a right to expect that it should not be assessed unduly for the desire of certain populations to live on land where the river's claim to occupancy is too strong to be challenged successfully

Corral for Hoodlums

The federal bureau of investigation which is doing a fine job of making Americans police conscious has many good ideas to sell Here's one that's a special bargain

Think of crime prevention and detection as a triangle with federal police patrolling one side and state and local police patrolling the other The base of the triangle should be—and here's the idea patrolled by the people themselves

In other words build a triangular fence around the hoodlums Make it altright so criminals can't get out and can't get in Encourage the public to work with not against its professional policemen

Big ideas usually are simple This one's so simple it's just another way of saying the crime problem in the United States will be whipped when the people are ready to help whip it But as long as they challenge policemen to do the whole job alone and then refuse to cooperate by policing their own side of the fence crime will continue to be the largest single business in the United States

The "Mike" Is Yours

Puzzlement over the enthusiastic confessions of the Russian plotters who were consigned variously to death and life imprisonment at the close of last week is universal Commentators particularly those who knew, some of the intellectuals caught in the Trotsky line seem to oust Joseph Stalin frankly confess they don't know what to make of it

Is it possible there's missing the fact that the radio is a powerful instrument of propaganda in Soviet Russia?

The plotters confessed over what would amount to a national hookup in the United States So sure was the Stalin regime of itself that it thought the confessions would be water on its wheel Possibly the plotters looked at it all differently Given the mike they did what any politician would do—they tried to reflect listeners to their point of view It was a leak they never expected to get

To be sure they knew they were foredoomed But at last they got some last words which may be remembered Even in setting up to the great discomfiture of Joe I or if as many observers think a believer in Stalin crowd is overrating its strength

War Views Change in 20 Years

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1937 by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON Feb 3—Just twenty years ago this week the United States government broke off diplomatic relations with the German government because the submarine warfare of the latter had violated the neutral rights of American citizens on the high seas

Is the cash and carry legislation now being considered by congress neutrality legislation or does it go beyond that and provide for the shipment of arms and munitions for belligerent countries

While 20 years ago America favored an assertion of its rights as superior to the rights of belligerents to the extent of severing diplomatic relations with Germany and finally declaring war on the central powers it has since been decided that the best way to keep out of war is to restrict the activities of our citizens both with respect to travel abroad and the shipment of arms munitions and implements of war for belligerent countries by Tommy Tuttle. Bigelow got up to give her the chair he had been occupying.

"Darling!" cried Mirabelle. "Did you ever—? About Lorna. I mean I called you up today, but you were out! I can't believe he did it!"

"But what I say is, if there isn't more in it than has come out yet, why did she run away?" put in Tommy Tuttle.

"I can't imagine why she did that," admitted Anne.

"Unless it was the shock," said Mirabelle. "People do lose their memories sometimes. She may be wandering somewhere—Sot knowing who she is. Isn't it awful—?"

"I asked Jacques Beauzanquette today what he made of it," said Tuttle "He was out with her, you know, the night of the murder."

"Do you think there's anything in that?" asked Chet. "They've been about a good deal together this season."

"Of course there's nothing in it," said Anne indignantly. "She's known Jacques all her life—just as I have."

"What did Jacques say?" asked Mirabelle.

"He doesn't know what to think He says he's sure she didn't suspect what Thorne was up to that night, because she wasn't nervous or restless or anything. Just her usual self. I thought he might know where she's gone, but he doesn't. At least he says he doesn't. Thorne doesn't know, either. I saw him today."

"And you never told me!" cried Mirabelle. "You sat all through dinner and never said a word! Did you ever—?"

"What did Thorne say?" asked Chet.

"Nothing except what he told the police. I tried to find out what his fight with Vronski was about, but he wouldn't tell me. At least, he said it was just the usual drunken brawl."

"How did he look?" asked Mirabelle.

"Bored," said Tuttle.

"Bored?" repeated Mirabelle. "Did you ever—? I should think he'd be worried to death."

"He didn't seem so," said Tuttle. "But I suppose he'd try not to show it anyway."

"It must be a terrible feeling," said Chet, "to be shut up like that against your will—with nothing to do but think."

"Horrible," agreed Mirabelle, shuddering.

Anne rose and they said they would be seeing her....As Bigelow followed her back to their table, he heard Tuttle saying in an aggrieved voice: "Who was that with Anne? Nobody introduced us!"

Madge Provides a Clue

As they sat down again by themselves, Anne said uneasily: "I don't like the idea of the baroness spreading those intuitions of hers broadcast. Suppose Chief Inspector Hagedorn should hear what she's been saying?"

"I should think his life is made miserable by people voicing groundless suspicions every time a new case is reported. And the woman has nothing whatever to go on. I shouldn't worry about her if I were you."

"But I will get my lawyer to have a word with her, I think," said Anna. "He can ring her up."

"No harm in that," agreed Bigelow.

Madge Forrester loomed up, still trailed by the waiter with the chair.

"I saw you talking to Mirabelle," she said. "Did you ever—? Is it my liver or has she got a peculiar taste in men. That MacKann opus looks like a panic model produced to meet altered economic conditions. And Tommy Tuttle is what Arthur sees when he's had too much to drink. And even then he doesn't stop. But I rather like Chet. He may not be a man's man, but he doesn't wear claws. And what I say is love and let love. Which reminds me—what is Toppy up to, can or will you tell me?"

"Toppy?" repeated Anne. "Why?"

"Idle curiosity. She had a luncheon date with me for today at one o'clock and when I was on my third cocktail, I got someone to ring up for me to find out if she was only later than usual or if she felt unable to come. I never telephone myself. I break my fingernails on those damned dials and I've got a phobia about broken fingernails. Arthur did buy me an old Chinese nail protector just to use for telephoning, but I never seem able to remember to put it in my bag—not the bag I happen to have with me, in any case. But there you are. That's the way I am."

She rose with a groan, catching a signal from the head waiter.

"But what about Toppy?" asked Anne, detaining her.

"Oh, Toppy! Somebody at her apartment said she'd gone back to Kansas. Imagine that, without even stopping to break her luncheon date with me. And she'd asked me to have lobster. My cook does it a special way that Toppy finds especially seductive and Arthur was lunching out and the dogs won't touch it, so I ate Toppy's share as well as mine. I find I'm making a habit of over-eating nowadays. It seems so wasteful to send things back to the kitchen. But that lobster nearly did for me. I can't tell you how I feel even now. And I shall never forgive Toppy."

Madge went off, threading her way through the tables, toward the violently beckoning hand.

"Toppy!" breathed Anne excitedly, her eyes shining. "I thought of her at once, but when you barred people living in big apartment houses, I dismissed the idea. But now of course it's obvious—Lorna is with her!"

"Gone to Kansas?"

"No, of course not. Nothing could induce Toppy to go back to Kansas. Nothing in this world. She has merely told the servants that so that no one will try to get in touch with her."

"Where do you suppose she is, then? Is it going to be any easier to trace her than to trace Lorna Dryden?"

"Yes, I think I've already guessed where they are!" Anne was nodding confidently to herself.

"Where?" asked Bigelow interestedly.

"Toppy's got a house in Westchester. It used to belong to the Hewitts, but just after the crash they were in an awful mess—they couldn't afford to keep the place up and they couldn't afford to move. So Betty Hewitt got the brilliant idea of raffling it off for a hundred dollars a chance. Most of her friends came through and bought blocks of tickets. Toppy bought a book of 10, I remember, and she won. She didn't want the place, at all, but it was hers. The Hewitt's cleaned up thousands on the deal and decamped. They went to Florida and settled there. And Toppy's been paying taxes on the house ever since. Nobody wants to buy it, it seems. It's quite a big place and the upkeep is considerable. She even offered to give it away but nobody wanted to shoulder the responsibility. So there it is. She's still got it and she says that's what she gets for trying to help out her friends!"

"And you think they may be there?" asked Bigelow.

"I'd gamble on it," declared Anne. "The house is surrounded by grounds and shut off from the road and form the river by big trees. There are no neighbors to overlook it and no servants there—not even a caretaker. Toppy had someone looking after it for awhile but he got arrested for being drunk and disorderly and she just locked everything up after that and left it. She said she was not going to let the damned place become a nuisance. So you see, they could go there with a stock of provisions and remain indefinitely without their whereabouts becoming known here in town."

"Yes, I see," said Bigelow.

"Even if Toppy went into the village to shop, no one would think anything of it. Everybody about there knows that she owns the place, now. And it's quite comfortably furnished. The Hewitts left practically everything behind them."

"Where is this place?" asked Bigelow, trying to subdue his excitement.

"On the Albany Post road just beyond Tarrytown. It takes about an hour to drive up there by car." Bigelow looked at his wrist-watch. "It's rather late," said Anne.

"And it's not likely that any one else has got on the trail yet. We'd much better get a few hours sleep and make an early start in the morning."

"Right," he agreed, but he called the waiter and settled his bill. As they went out, Karsanskoff waved to them from her table. She was in a sea-green frock, cut high at the neck and with long sleeves. On one shoulder, she had a trailing spray of yellow and green orchids. She looked exotic and arresting, and Woody was leaning across the table toward her, completely fascinated. Karsanskoff was laughing....

Bigelow's shadow trails him as he starts for Westchester with Anne, tomorrow.

COUNTING COST OF AUTOMOBILE STRIKE

ately kindred to motors, such as glass, upholstery, paint and lacquer, steel, lumber, rubber, ambitious anticipation would give way to watchful waiting. Instead of an attitude of "prepare now for 1938," the philosophy would become, "observe until the outlook clears."

If the suppliers did not go through with contemplated improvements, their suppliers, going right down to the basic industries, would hold off. In the other direction, you have the obvious effects of a resultant contraction in consumer spending, affecting first the retailer and then all the forces that are behind him.

Finally, there is that nervous barometer, the stock market. For the first weeks of the strike it held up surprisingly well, but that was due to the belief that the dispute would soon be settled. A protracted tie-up must soon make its pressure felt across the list with a broad "psychological" effect on recovery.

Business has had to take these possibilities into consideration even while saying that the strike would be over far sooner than April and while adding that, if it wasn't and 500,000 cars dropped out, still 1936 was a pretty good year on only 4,600,000 cars. The point to business is that everybody pays for a labor war like this and everybody had better know it for the better advisement of those who start such wars.

NASH AND PRIZEFIGHTING

Gov. George K. Nash gave evidence of his rugged independence, and a determination to exercise the duties of his office in an incident that occurred at Cincinnati. Early in 1901 he read in the newspapers of a plan to stage a heavyweight prizefight there. It was against the law, but there was a strong sentiment in favor of the exhibition in Cincinnati and Mayor Julius Fleischman had issued a license to permit it.

Gov. Nash issued an order that it should not take place, but the management carried plans forward. Suddenly the governor secured from the emergency board $50,000 for the use of all the state military forces that might be necessary to stop the exhibition. That was final. Nothing more was heard of the prizefight.

Live All Your Life, Speaker Tells Federation Audience

KEYING his address on the first three words of his topic "Live All Your Life" Rev Oscar Adam pastor of the First Methodist church at Sheboygan Wis outlined a challenging program for living in a talk before members of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs last night in the Central Christian church

Placing emphasis on each of the three words he urged his audience to live life to the fullest until the end to maintain an interest in the finer and better things of life throughout and to live their own life as designed by their Creator and not a life of imitation of some other person

So many people are dead long before they die Rev Adam said In opening his talk and cited as one of the great tragedies of life the person who in the early 20s and 40s lose their zest for life and their ideals of youth He cited as an example of persons who give up living early in life the average run of men of enterprise and fame whose greatest work was done after they had passed the age of 70 or 80 Among the names quoted by Rev Adam were Thomas Jefferson the actor Von Hinderberg Clemenceau and Oliver Wendel Holmes all of these he said lived all of their lifetime and lead life on top Statistics prove that the span of life is growing longer but he asked what would be the sense of living 100 years if you are dead before you die? In discussing the social side of the problem of living Rev Adam said that today a man of 45 is on the scrap pile in our present industrial situation and this he maintained is a problem which society of which the women of the federation are a part must work out some solution

Living all your life means living a rounded life he continued He explained that many persons are living a lop-sided life through the development of only one phase of life There must be he stated a mental social moral and spiritual development

Be yourself at your best he challenged his audience in closing his talk No two human beings are meant to be exactly alike he explained and emphasized the significance of his statement by comparing the individual's fitting into his own particular niche with the small bits of glass which play so important a part in a beautiful stained glass window The important thing is that we are shedding the light we are intended to shed whether it be a small or a great one he said in closing

The next question I came to being what happened while I was gone I ventured

Can't fool you can I?" she countered Well here it is and it's nothing to broadcast although I imagine there are certain parties who would give quite a sum for the news But it's simply a message from Noel telling us what we've been expecting that he's been ordered to join his father on that yacht old Phil chartered He could not give us the exact location of course but it's cruising around the 12 mile limit off the lower coast of Maine

Mary wasn't so far wrong in her fantastic prediction I said Wants that? Lillian demanded

What's He Staging?

Nothing much only she was talking about the probability of Noel's cruising within a hundred miles of her And that camp in New Hampshire is less than a hundred miles from some of the Maine seaport towns

'I haven't the slightest idea I said a bit shortly

She flashed another quick shrewd look at me and opened her lips But whatever she meant to say was cut off sharply by Katie's knock upon the door

COUNTIES WILL GET U. S. FUNDS EARLY

Aid for Blind Pension and Children's Support To Be Distributed.

County Auditor Harry V. Mounts said today he had been notified Ohio counties will receive in advance their quarterly grants of state and federal funds for aid of dependent children and the blind under a change announced by Henry J. Robison, chief of the state division of public assistance.

Mr. Mounts said he is expecting the grants within a few days. Marion county usually receives about $1,225 a month for blind relief and $927 a month for care of dependent children, he said. In addition the county pays a share of the cost for both branches, he said.

Under the new system the funds will be disbursed after the counties report anticipated expenditures. Previously they have been reimbursed after making expenditures, Miss Vivian Hall, investigator of applications for aid to dependent children, sends a monthly report to Columbus, showing how much will be needed, Mr. Mounts said.

The change is designed particularly to assist counties in financial straits because of floods or other reasons, The Associated Press reported.

Exemptions Allowed Couples Married During Taxable Year

Taxpayers should note that under the Revenue Act of 1936 the credit for dependents as well as the personal exemption is required to be pro-rated where a change of status occurs during the taxable year and that these credits are allowable not only for the purpose of computing the normal tax, but also the surtax. A fractional part of a month is to be disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month, in which case it is considered a month.

For example, a single man and a single woman who were married on July 20, 1936, and were living together on the last day of the taxable year, may file a joint return. If they file their return or returns on the basis of the calendar year, they would be entitled to a personal exemption of $2,208.34, which is seven-twelfths of $1,000 for the husband while single, plus seven-twelfths of $1,000 for the wife while single, plus five-twelfths of $2,500 for the period during which they were married. If separate returns are filed, each is entitled to a personal exemption of $1,104.17, which is seven-twelfths of $1,000, plus one-half of five-twelfths of $2,500. If during the year 1936 the husband or the wife had the status of the head of a family prior to their marriage he or she would be entitled to his or her pro-rata share of the personal exemption of $2,500 allowed the head of a family for the period prior to their marriage instead of merely that allowed a single person. However, for the period of their marriage any exemption to which either might be entitled as the head of a family would be merged in the joint personal exemption for that period. The joint personal exemption allowable in the case of a couple who were married and living together during the entire year may not exceed $2,500.

If a child under 18 years of age and dependent on the parent for support reaches the age of 18 years during the taxable year, the credit of $400 for a dependent is required to be prorated in the same manner as the personal exemption. For example, should the child's eighteenth birthday fall on June 30, the parent would be entitled to claim $200 credit for the dependent child—that is one-half of $400. The same rule applies to other dependents where a change of status occurs during the taxable year.

TALK OVER BRADDOCK-LOUIS FIGHT

Ohio State Track Coach Calls A. A. U. Officials "Politicians"

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 3—Larry Snyder track coach at Ohio State university whose differences with A A U officials provided one of the highlights of the 1936 Olympic games reopened that controversy today by declaring the A A U board was composed of a bunch of politicians and that they were all wet in not approving Jesse Owens mark of 10.2 for the 100 meters

Snyder used up a couple of pencils and several scratch pads to back up his contention that the record made June 20 1936 at the national intercollegiate meet in Chicago should have received the official sanction of the A A U at the December meeting and written into the books

The A A U turned down Jesse's record because the track was three eighths of an inch short Snyder said

I don't know whether the track was short or not for I didn't measure it but if it were three eighths of an inch short—just look at the figures

Snyder then went on to show that there are 109 yards one foot and five eighths of an inch in 100 meters Another bit of mathematics disclosed that there are 31 160 eighth inches in the same distance and that the track was made up of 10 497 parts an inch large as the track shortage each part being three eighths of an inch

Now if Jesse could run 10 4/80 of those parts in 10.2 seconds Snyder said a simple bit of division proves that he could have run that extra three eighths of an inch in 0.09/021 of a second or about nine and a half ten thousandths of a second

And there isn't a stop watch in the world that can come close to timing anything like that Snyder said "The best watches we have time in tenths of a second and Jesse could have been caught at the tape he was going in 10.2 anywhere within a couple of feet of the finish mark

It just goes to show that college records when submitted for approval are scrutinized through a microscope by the A A U before an approval is given while records made in meets run by the A A U gets almost automatic approval

Snyder declared that I am in favor of all collegiate records being turned over to a college board for approval and then having the A A U accept that approval without question instead of the present plan whereby the records must have A A U sanction

He claims this turning over of college records for approval to a bunch of politicians like the A A U

The old record of 10.3 for the 100 meters is held by Percy Williams of Canada Eddie Tolan of Michigan and Ralph Metcalf of Marquette

Forest Lawn's undefeated entry in the Senior Sunday school league turned back its closest rival Trinity Baptist 26 to 23 last night to annex the seventh consecutive victory of the current season The winning combine has virtually assured itself the league pennant as the result of the night's three point win over the Baptists

With only three games remaining on the schedule it will be necessary for Forest Lawn to suffer defeat in all of them to leave an opening for any other squad to tie up the loop pennant. The second place teams Trinity Baptists and United Brethren have both suffered three defeats each and hold little hope of overtaking the leaders

Forest Lawn needs but one victory in its three remaining games to sew up the loop honors. Last night the undefeated team was in top notch form with every member hitting the hoop for at least two points Obenour forward led the pack with eight points all gained from action Earl Lanks center followed with seven points and Snyder forward accounted for five

United Brethren's quintet went on a scoring spree last night romping to a 52 to 29 victory over the Wesley outfit Caldwell paced the Brethren scorers collecting eight action shots and a free throw for a total of 17 points In the opening game of last night's program Salem experienced little trouble in turning back the Reformed quintet 32 to 19 It was Salem's third league win while Reformed has failed to mark any of its seven games in the victory column Box scores follow

WESLEYAN RALLYING AFTER EARLY-SEASON SERIES OF DEFEATS

Win Second Straight Game at Expense of Miami, Capital Spills Northern

By The Associated Press

Ohio Wesleyan's Bishops pretty much bedraggled after their opening engagements in the current baseball wars are lifting up their heads

They won their second straight triumph last night bowling Miami over in a Buckeye conference fray for their third victory in a dozen starts The score was 31 to 25

The Delaware team following up its 15-point decision Saturday over Otterbein was led by McAdams ace forward who tallied 12 points to become high scorer of the conference with 65 in five games

Miami trailed at the half 8-15 and put on a strong rally which threatened the home team With only six minutes to play Miami was trailing only 20-21 but the Bishops drove on for their second loop triumph

On the Ohio conference front a downtrodden Capital five rose up to spill Ohio Northern at Ada as it did so when the Polar Bears weakened in the second half and Mount Union repelled a John Carroll invasion 30 to 14

The invading Grove City (Pa) college five sank two field goals in the final minutes of play to trip Hiram 39 to 36 at Ashland Penn college handed Ashland its eighth loss in nine starts and Wilmington topped Cedarville 24 13 in a northwestern Ohio loop game

STEELS, RAILS STAGE UPTURN

Specialties Also Active but Rest of Stocks Meander in Narrow Rut

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb 3 — Traders put their shoulders behind steels rails and specialties in today's stock market but left many issues to wriggle in a restricted range

A little better slant to the labor news was a stimulating influence and favored shares led by U S Steel and Bethlehem pushed into new high ground for the past six years or longer with gains of 1 to 3 points at the best

Dealing turned quiet after a lively opening and near the fourth hour best prices had been reduced in some instances. There was also an assortment of moderate losers

Bonds edged forward with carrier loss out in front Commodities improved

General Motors and Chrysler shares were a bit indifferent for a time but they came up after noon.

Notable gainers during most of the proceedings included National Steel Crucible Electric Auto Lite New York Central Great Northern Southern Pacific Southern Railway Chesapeake & Ohio Westinghouse Lima Locomotive American Locomotive J I Case Montgomery Ward Gimbel Deere and Oliver Farm

Support from the steels was found in an optimistic survey by Iron Age

The magazine noted a brisk upturn in mill operations following receding flood waters in the Ohio valley Preliminary estimates were said to indicate an urgent need for steel for immediate rehabilitation work and a much heavier demand later on for reconstruction and flood control projects

Sterling and French francs were unchanged at the start of foreign exchange transactions the former at $4 99 1-8 and the latter at 4 66 1-4 cents
